Chilean utility group Enel Chile said on Wednesday that it has signed an agreement to sell 416 MW of operational solar farms to international solar energy player Sonnedix Power Holdings Ltd. Under the terms, Sonnedix will acquire Enel Chile's entire stake in Arcadia Generacion Solar SA for USD 550 million (EUR 492.7m).

These projects are testament to our strong commitment to push the energy transition forward and help Chile meet its ambitious renewable power targets. On 19th October 2022, we completed the acquisition of Arco Energy, one of the largest independent renewable power producers in Chile, marking the start of our hybridisation journey.

Enel S.p.A. and Enel Chile S.A. closed the sale of a 416 MW photovoltaic (PV) portfolio to international renewable energy producer Sonnedix, for a total consideration of ...

Chile has some of the highest levels of solar radiation on earth, making it a prime candidate for photovoltaic energy development, and the Magallanes region in southern Chile is being touted as a prime site for wind-powered green hydrogen projects.
